

C utilities

Building the C utilities

To build the C utilities and install their executables in `../bin`, run the following command:

```
make install
```

Other commands

`make` without any arguments builds the executables, but does not install them.

`make clean` removes objects and executables from this directory (but does not remove anything from `../bin`).